CYNTHIANA NEWS.

CYNTHIANA, - - OCTOBER 7, 1869.

A. J. MOREY, EDITOR.

A. HEAD'S LAST.

The following is the last of E. O. Haile's many humorous and interesting productions. He was himself a victim of the dread disease of which he writes, and died in three days after this, his last contribution to the Houston (Texas) Times.

Consumption—Its Uses and Abuses.

BY A. HEAD.

Consumption proper may be declined thus: positive consumption, comparative consumption, and superlative consumption. One who has consumption always desires to decline it, and it generally ends in a decline on his part. I had it myself but I went to see the doctors who had big advertisements and big signs on fences, which read "consumption cured," and I got cured—from going to see 'em any more.

While I had it I received very little advice, and was only recommended to try a few remedies; here are some of 'em, alphabetically deranged:

A. said if I would go to St. Paul, Minn., I would be a Samson in nine months. I didn't Samson.

B. told me if I wanted to live I must go to Texas. I went, and as D.
Webster said, "I ain't dead yet. I would not live alwuz."

C. recommended Bourbon whisky but that went against my grain. I cannot, cannot drink. Its against my principles, and makes my nose red. I never did drink and never will again.

D. said I must never drink alcoholic stimulants, and must eat salt; only one meal a day, and that to consist of a canary bird's harslet dipped in cod liver oil. A smelt or sardine might be eaten on Fridays.

E. told me to go to sea a long voyage, and I would be as hearty as a brick.

F. told me to go to hunting bucks in the interior, and not go near the salt water at all.

G. told me to "Git up and git" but I had no velocipede.

H. recommended flaxseed tea and slippery elm bark. As I had been barking for some time, I tried it till I was flaxed out.

I thought I would do pretty much as I pleased; so I took to exercising in the open air, eating rare roast beef, rare steaks, plenty of fruit, drinking Scotch ale, and I soon got fat, ragged and saucy. In addition, I took all the going and everything that follows, out of compliment to the kind soles who recommended it.
There is only a few simple dyes, as I before remarked, and you will see.

K. said a sure cure would be found in the piny woods; but I had pined away until I was boughed down so as to become a weeping Will-o-the-Wisp!

L. recommended Brandeth's pills, but M. persisted in "S. T.—1860—X," which means in medical parlance, Stand Treatment from 1860 until you haven't got an X.

O. wanted me to go to the Sulphur Springs, but I had too much the dread of brimstone to begin on it now.

I. recommended me to study for the ministry, preach a little while, and my congregation would send me to Europe for my health and pay my expenses. I am satisfied they would be willing to send me somewhere after I had preached a short time. I know of one minister who was sent to Europe for his health by his "flock," and had to eat four meals a day and drink brandy and water all the voyage to prevent sea sickness. When he returned he was "called" to a more extended field of usefulness and a higher salary.

And so it went on thro' the 26 letters of the alphabet, and 10 numbers and a new midichin for every hair in my head.

WHAT I HAVE TRIED.
Acids, anodynes, ammonia, arrow roots, ale, advice (lots of it.) Baths, listers, bleeding, boineuze and "benzine" bitters.
Cough syrups, cod liver oil, champagne, claret, and more cod liver oil.
Doctors, drugs, debility.
Eradicators, esculents, Europe.
Fir balsam, fruits, fusing.
Goose grease, gravajelly, ginseng and gin without the seng.
Hasheesh, and hash without the ceesh, and "hoisting."

Inhalation, ice, ipecachuana, iodines, "imbibing."
Jalap, juleps, and Jamaica rum.
Krug, kirschwasser, kussing.
Lemmonade, lobelia, lozenges, liq-uorice, and liquor without the ice.
Medicines.
Nicotine, nostrums.
Olive tar, onions oxygen, orange leaf tea.
Pitch, pills, poultices, plasters.
Quine, quacks.
Rest, relishes, rum.
Sarsaparilla, squills, seidlitz powders, salt and senna.
Tar tinctures, toll, traveling.
Urbs!
Vichy, vinaigre de toilette.
Whisky.
X.
Y.
Z.

I have tried all these and where am I? Ask the overseer of the poor, or the Superintendent of the Insane Asylum.

As I dream and cough and cough and dream, methinks I hear a stentrian voice sing "in my ears, "Get thee to a brewery—go!" But I have no velocipede.

As the National Medical Convention is about to meet in New Orleans, I submit it to that big body if it is necessary or incumbent on a second class consumptive to take more than half of the above remedies! I contend no-sir-ee; and I have combined about half of the cheapest of 'em into one medicine, which medicine is put in one bottle, and sold at the ruinously low rate (to my patients) of $5 per bottle. large size; two bottles taken centripally, and one centrifugally, will cure asthma, bronchitis, consumption, corns, assafetida, small pox, rhuematism, delirium tremens, founders, lock-jaw, and diarrhæa.

Certificates from a retired banker (keno):

MR. HEAD—Your great remedy, the "Ambiguous Annihilation of Christendom," is unsurpassed in its effects. I smelt of the cork of the bottle containing it, and immediately the hair commenced growing on the top of my head, which had been bad for years, and I have now a luxuriant crop of hair, so the boys can no longer say that I am barefooted on the top of my head. I believe it is not only a cure, but a preventive of consumption.

AMBEER BASATELLER.

A HEAD.

DEAR SIR—Your justly celebrated "Amphibious Annihilator of Belgium," for sale by all respectable veterinary doctors and druggists, is going fast here. I sold several cases and it cured all the cases who took it. One man who had gone on crutches for years took one dose of your medicine, and was yesterday able to be out without his crutches—out of the world. Other instances of the same sort might be reduced to writing.

BORGIA D. RACON.

P. S.—You ought to have your medicine on the fences.

B. D. R.

KENOVILLE, April 1.

DR. HEAD—Your "Ambitious Amalgamator of Christendom," is wonderfully effective. It cured a snake-bite on a nigger, a bunion on a white man, and a whole family with one leg shorter than the other. Away with all worthless compounds, say I, and make room for the "Amalgmator."
H. L. JAR.

P. S.—Send another "V" for another certificate.

It will be seen that my correspondents make some errors in regard to the proper name of my great medicine, which is "Amphibious Annihilator of Christendom" and is of a purely vegetable character, being composed of corrosive of lime, sulphate of zinc and Iodid of Potash, all distilled in copper and preserved in tin cans.

I have published a tract on the "Uses and Abuses of Consumption," illustrated with steel engraving, showing algebraical formation of diametrical index and conglomerated connections of the abominable thorax; also, explaining the ne plus ultra of the sic transit gloria mundi in its convulsions foretold the nu-cous diagram. Price 10 cents.

Consumption, as a whole, cannot be properly handled in this one iceolated treatise. But I trust that I have herein proven that consumption, as a whole, may be so treated as to either speedily remove the disease from the patient, or the patient from the disease.

Principle vs. Policy.

We find in the Augusta (Ga.) Constitutionalist of the 21st, an article entirely in accord with the views expressed in our last as demonstrating the necessity of principle as the foundation of party, that we feel we cannot do better than insert extracts from it, in further illustration of the abstract view taken by us. It was written as a commentary upon an article which appeared in the Courier-Journal on "Principles and Measures," and although our own article was written without reference to, or without in fact, having ever seen the one upon which it comments, the perfect accord in sentiment serves forcibly to show how nearly those will coincide who reason from a common stand point.

The Constitutionalist taking issues with the Courier-Journal upon its assertion that Hamilton and Jefferson were in perfect accord upon the principles of Republican Government, but differed in opinion upon points of expediency, says:

"Is it a fact that Hamilton and Jefferson were in perfect accord upon the principles of Republican Government? In answer to this question, we most respectfully join 'issue' with the Courier-Journal. The fact, as our history abundantly and conclusively shows, is directly the reverse of the statement here made.
These two great men differed widely and radically upon the 'principles' which should enter into the organic structure of any rightly constituted Republican system of government.

They likewise differed widely and radically in their views as to the nature of the government which should be instituted to take the place of the old articles of Union, when, in 1786, it was thought proper to revise them.
Hamilton, for instance, was for doing away with the separate sovereignty of the several States, and for merging all into one single consolidated Republic, with absolute ultimate power to control in all things thro'- out the entire country. Jefferson, on the contrary, was for so amending the articles of C federation in the new Constitution as to remedy the evil complained of under the old one, and yet still keep the States united in a Federal Republic; still keep them "one nation as to all foreign concerns," but "separate and distinct in domestic ones"—as had been done under the previous articles of Union. Here was the first essential difference between them on the "principles" of our Republican Institutions.

When Hamilton failed to get the Convention that framed the present Federal Constitution to adopt his views as to one grand single republic, and after that body continued the Federal system of a Union of the States, according to the views of Jefferson, then another and equally wide difference arose between them.
A difference again on "principles" and not on mere "measures" or "issues," if we have any correct idea of what is meant by "principles" in this connection.

Jefferson, for instance, opposed the "Alien" and "Sedition" acts, not only on the grounds of the impolicy of those "measures" but because they were in palpable violation of the "principles" of the Federal Constitution. His views of the nature of the Federal Government and the principles of its organic structure, which were violated by these acts or "measures" are duly set forth in his celebrated Kentucky Resolutions of 1798. It was upon these fundamental "principles" of the Constitution so set forth by Mr. Jefferson, that the great Democratic party was organized in 1798-99, and upon which, under his lead, it so signally triumphed in 1800, and under which the country so prospered for sixty years afterward! This difference between Hamilton and Jefferson related not to "measures" only, or the "issues" presented by "measures," but they extended to the organic "principles" upon which the Government itself was founded—the "principles" indeed, from which all of its powers are derived."

Referring to the distinction between principles, measures and issues the Constitutionalist further says:

"Principles" reside in the structure of the Government. "Measures" are proposed acts of the Government under the laws or "principles" of the structure. When such acts are proposed some may approve while others will oppose them. Thus is an "issue" upon them presented for the people to decide at the ballot box or through their representatives. This is all very plain, business-like, fire-side, every-day conversational language. It is the plain, direct language of fact, and, in the same strain, we shall go on to say that "measures" are always to be considered in two aspects: First as to whether they violate any principle of the organic law, or whether there is any authority in the organic law for their adoption.

If there be authority for them and no violation of any "principle" in the Constitution by their adoption, then they are to be considered in respect to their general policy and utility."

And in its conclusion it adds:
We cannot dismiss the subject, even for the present, without expressing our surprise at the statement of the Courier-Journal that "the suppression of the rebellion was a 'measure';" there was no "principle in it at all!" No principle involved in the claim and exercise of Federal Power to subjugate co-States in a "Contederated Republic!" We are not satisfied that we understand exactly what is meant by this expression, and therefore simply express our surprise at it as it stands —coming from the source it does.

The drift of this argument of the Courier-Journal, as we understand it, is that the organization of the Democratic party of the U. S. from 1798 to this time, has been upon "principle;" and therefore the articles of its creed should change with the change of "measures," and the change in the wants and interest of the people which time in its progress effects. It is from this view we dissent utterly and entirely.
Its organization is upon principles which can never change except with a change in the organic structure of the Government itself."

"Old Hickory's" Idea of Astron- omy.

A writer in a late number of Appleton's Journal, who has had the pleasure of dining with General Jackson, tells the following characteristic anecdote:

"He invited me to dine with him telling me the names of his own household I should meet. We had an excellent dinner, but the General, I observed, ate only a large bowl of bread and milk, not touching either meat or wine. In the course of the dinner, Major Donaldson, I think was talking very interestingly upon some recent discoveries in astronomy. After listening a while,

County Roads.

Mr. Editor:-

Your correspondent has, in a few days, passed over several of the common roads of our county, and was struck with the singular notions of some overseers as to what constitutes working a road. Some men, while professing to put their divisions in good order, have by their putting coarsely broken or unbroken rock in places likely to become muddy in wet weather, in such small quantities that they cannot possibly do any good, and when we passed over we mentally estimated the value of broken legged horses and smashed up wagons, thinking that these must be abundant in neighborhoods we could name. We now propose to suggest the manner found by experience to vastly improve the common dirt road when adopted by overseers, with the hope that it may be generally adopted in such work: 1st. Wherever the ground is flat or swampy and needs rock to make it passable, break the rocks at least as small as a horse's foot, and he can then fight with equal weapons his battle of life. If a branch passes across a road excavate the dirt in the bottom, and on either side for a few feet, and fill with small rocks level with the surface, extending the work on either bank to rising ground, thus obviating a chuck-hole which is often found at the end of such jobs. This makes a good road, firm and durable, and will last a life time.

2nd. Where heavy, immovable benches of rocks project on the hill-sides of our uneven lands, break rock small below them and cover well with dirt, which by the way generally abounds in this county, and it will be found that the necessary travel will soon compress or cement them into a mass which requires several years of time and floods to remove. We know one steep, rugged hill, that was covered in this manner seven years ago, and is still benefited by that working. Flowing out ditches on the sides, and rounding the middle, where hands are plenty to do the work, well repays the labor, but few neighborhoods have the force to do it.

3d. Above all things throw the loose rocks out of the roads or into the ditches where they should be well broken and thoroughly covered with earth; nothing is more unpleasant to the traveler than the constant stumble of horse, or jostle of wagon over the loose rolling rocks that work up on our road beds, and the overseer who can do nothing more with the force at his command, than simply toss them into the fence corners, will be astonished at the improvement to travel and benefit the community in which he lives. To be an overseer of a road is a very undesirable office. Even in this day of almost universal scramble after office, no one seems to seek this important position, and if your correspondent were to guess the cause, it would be want of remuneration. Make it lucrative and we will have thousands of aspirants who would work the roads well too. Tradition says John Tyler, after his retirement from the Presidency, returned to the bosom of a constituency not at all pleased with his course while in office, who, to show their resentment at his party treachery, made him overseer of a Virginia road. The Ex-President to their surprise quietly assumed the duties of his important office, thus unexpectedly thrust upon him, and summoned the hands to the work which lasted so long that his neighbors remonstrated against the continued absence of their farm labor. Now came Tyler's triumph. Said he: "Gentlemen I always, when acting in the capacity of public servant, endeavor to do my duty without regard to the interests of individuals; therefore, you will excuse me from listening to your wants until the public is satisfied," and he had the best road in Virginia. Why can't his successors the country over emulate his wise example? and do their work well? Many an upstart is to-day looking for the accident that is to do for them as it did for Grant as successor to one of Tyler's position, but none so poor as to do his last office rever-

Particulars of the Killing of Curran Hanley.

[Correspondence Louisville Courier-Journal, Lexington, Ky., Sept. 23, 1869.]

On yesterday various and conflicting rumors were rife in this city concerning an awful tragedy in Jessamine county, near the site of old Camp Nelson. Your correspondent repaired to the spot, and learned the following particulars:

On Monday evening about 6 o'clock, Curran Hanley was shot in the head and instantly killed by John Perry, in whose house the tragedy transpired. The testimony before the coroner's jury elicited the following facts:

Hanley had been in Nicholasville on Monday, and started home just before night. He was overtaken by Perry (the witness) and they rode on together until they arrived at Curry's place, just opposite the Hanley farm at the second toll gate going from Nicholasville to Danville. Curry keeps a grocery, and sells liquor by the drink. Hanley proposed to Perry that they stop, saying he wanted to talk to Curry. Perry knowing that ill-feeling existed between the parties, endeavored to dissuade Hanley from stopping, but in vain. As Hanley entered the house, Curry went out at a back door and refused to come in, saying that he wanted nothing to do with Hanley. Some high words passed between them, and Hanley started off. In attempting to mount his horse the saddle turned, and he went back into the house. As soon as Hanley entered the door Perry heard the report of a gun, and rode away. The contents of both barrels of a double-barreled shot-gun struck Hanley in the head, tearing away the left eye and cheek, and as I said before killing him instantly. Curry immediately saddled his horse, went to Nicholasville and gave himself up. He is now under close arrest, and will have his preliminary trial to-morrow. John S. Bronaugh, Esq., will conduct the prosecution, and John T. Hogan, Esq., will appear for the defense.

The sad affair created intense excitement in Jessamine county, as both parties were widely known and highly respected. The deceased was the eldest son of the late Major John Hanley, for a long time a prominent citizen of Jessamine. He owned a large tract of valuable land bounded on two sides by the Kentucky river and the Nicholasville turnpike. During the war Curran resided on his father's place and was a heavy beef contractor. His brother Grattan served in the Confederate army and now lives in Jessamine county. Curran Hanley had a loose way of keeping his accounts, trusting to every one's honor. He found much difficulty in settling his affairs, and upon his father's death he found himself charged with large sums of money which his co-heirs claimed that he owed to the estate, and which he claimed that he had paid off. At the close of the war he went to Arkansas, where he owned a plantation. He remained there until the sale of his father's estate, when he returned to look after his interests. His portion of it was so covered with attachments that from it he realized little or nothing. He became reckless, and, when drinking, did not hesitate to denounce his kindred and his former friends, of whom Curry was one. When killed he was on the eve of returning to Arkansas. He leaves a large and interesting family, now orphans, his wife, a very superior woman, whom he idolized having died near the close of the war.

Curran Hanley was a brave, generous and kind-hearted man. He was not quarrelsome except when drinking, and then only with those whom he thought had injured him. He never went armed, and was not, so far as I can learn, at the time he was killed. J. A. J. J.

Messrs. Clarke and Lee have commenced the publication of a weekly paper called the Owen News, at New Liberty, the initial number of which has been received. The editorial management of the paper is under the control of Mr. J. M. Clarke, who in his salutatory announces his intention to make his paper a welcome visitor to the farmer, the mechanic, the merchant, and the manufacturer. In politics the News will advocate that sound national policy sustained by the Democratic party of the country. Owen is a populous county, intensely Democratic, and is abundantly able to support its home organ.

A fast young man of Fayette arrived in Georgetown on Wednesday last with a pair of large fine mules belonging to his father, which he proposed to sell at a price so far below their value as to immediately excite suspicion. A Lexington policeman came down soon after, and took the mules and young man home.

Gen. John C. Breckinridge has signified his intention of being present at the Glasgow Fair on Tuesday, the 5th of October. Many of the soldiers of his old division in that section will doubtless be glad to meet once more with their old commander.

J. M. Kimbrough, of the firm of Megibben & Kimbrough, is now opening in Georgetown, Ky., a Boot, Shoe, Hat and Cap Store. We are glad to learn that this arrangement will not interfere with his connection at the Stone Front, but he will be found there as heretofore, ready to attend to the wants of his many friends. He has engaged Capt. O. Kenard, of the firm of Kellogg, Welch & Co., of this city to discharge the duties connected with his house at Georgetown. Mr. Kimbrough will do the purchasing, to supply the demands of the trade at that point; he is a good judge of this class of goods and knows how to buy the best goods, at the lowest prices; he received his early education in the mercantile trade, from two of the most successful merchants, that have ever lived in Cynthiana. He commenced with Asbury Broadwell and remained with him up to the time of his death. A situation was then offered him by William A. Withers and R. Stowers which he accepted and remained with them until his health became impaired, and he was compelled to retire to the country. For the last three years he has been engaged in the Stone Front, of world wide fame in this city. For the last year the business of this immense establishment has been carried on under his immediate direction; he has justly won the reputation of a first class merchant. We see by a notice from our Georgetown neighbor that he has promised the people of that section a first class establishment; that promise will be fulfilled. To much cannot be said of Capt. Kenard. He is a thorough business man of long experience as a merchant, a polite sociable gentleman, by his removal our city will lose one of her best citizens. Long may he wave.

Senator Brownlow has been confined to his bed the past week, though no marked change has taken place in his condition. He is considerably debilitated, but confidently expects to resume his seat in December.

Neighborhood News

Major Hilber reports about 500 mules on the market and trade a little better than last court. Sold two year old mules at from $120 to $160 per head; broke mules at $150 to $212. Cattle, two-year olds, common, brought about 5 cents. Sold only a few horses at tolerably fair prices.

Science Advances.

As soon as an article purporting to be of utility has been tested, and its merits endorsed by public opinion, unprincipled parties endeavor to replenish their purses by counterfeiting, and substituting a spurious for the genuine article. Some time since, mercury, in the disguise of pills, powders, &c., was given for all diseases of the stomach and liver, while quinine was freely administered for the chills. At length HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS made its advent, and an entire system of healing was inaugurated. The beneficial effects of this valuable preparation were at once acknowledged, and mineral poisons suffered to sink into that obscurity to which an enlightened age has consigned them. There have been many spurious Bitters palmed upon the community, which, after trial, have been found perfectly worthless, while HOSTETTER'S has proved a blessing to thousands, who owe to it their restoration to health and

For many years we have watched the steady progress of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS in public estimation, and its beneficial effects as a cure for all complaints arising from the stomach, of a morbid nature, and we are free to say that it can be relied upon as a certain relief and remedy. Its proprietors have made the above preparation, after years of careful study and sitting, and are now reaping the reward claimed by this valuable specific, and which, thus so richly merit. It is the only preparation of the kind that is reliable in all cases, and it therefore demands the attention of the afflicted.

"AS YOU LIKE IT."
Young ladies have you noticed, while walking on the sidewalks, the shoes for sale by Williamson, so fashionable and neat. He has them of all sizes, of every fashion known.

And children cheap for children, likewise for persons grown.

He has them large as flatboats, with heels of ponderous size. He has them small and fairylike, bewitching to the eyes. He has them made of lasting; morocco, kip and kid.

And warrants them to fit you, if such things ever did.

If you have corns or bunions, thick nails, or galled feet, He guarantees you pleasure, through sunshade and through street. No cruel pegs shall hurt your feet, and cause a horrid trowl.

But people passing you will greet, the "sweetest girl in town."

Your mother, dear, her specks will wipe, and gaze up in surprise. And wonder what on earth it was, so changed her daughter's size.

Your father whom you've made to feel, that he was sure a martyr. Will pause in wonderment and gaze, on his angelic daughter.

The little birds that flit swift by, their rapid speed will stay. And seeing you so beautiful, will sing to thee all day.

And little children playing, out in the public street. Will say to one another, "look! see those pretty feet!"

'Tis thus that Alice Williamson, the boot and shoe store man. Distributes his great comforts, to whomsoever he can.

And only asks you in return, to give to him just praise. In order that he may make cash, his children small to raise.

To all the masculines he says, if you have greenback dollars, I'll sell you for them cheap as dirt, boots, shoes and standing collars.

Suspenders, neckties, shoe strings, hats, caps and cotton socks. And other things he may make cash, his children small to raise.

He tells you that you never had, a friend so kind as would. Encounter troubles such as he, encounters for your good.

So he's off to the River now, to buy things rich and rare. And when he returns—your bet—the merchants will bear their share.

REVIVAL AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH.—A protracted meeting is now going on at the Christian Church in this city. Much interest prevails and some have already been baptised. Large and interested audiences are in attendance morning and evening.

The meeting will be continued several days. P. B. Wiles, Pastor of the Christian Church of Covington, Ky., is doing the preaching. He is an able and interesting speaker and the public are cordially invited to give him a hearing. He claims to preach the old Jerusalem gospel in all its purity.

Last week a protracted meeting has been in progress for nearly two weeks at the Christian Church in this city. Elder P. B. Wiles, pastor of the Christian Church in Covington is the chief speaker. He is an eloquent and able exponent of the ancient gospel, and attracts large and profoundly attentive audiences.

Eighteen accessions have already been gained to the congregation. The members are alive to the work, and from present indications a bright future is in store for this church.

Capt. Ben. Johnson died in Washington county, Miss., from congestion of the lungs on the 26th. Capt. J. was the fifth son of the late Capt. Henry Johnson, formerly of Lexington. He was twice married—the first time to Miss Hunt, of Lexington, and the second to Miss Keene, of Georgetown, surviving also the latter. During the war he was an officer in Col. Sta.ke's cavalry regiment, and there, as always, was esteemed as a gallant and high-toned gentleman. Since the war he has been engaged in cotton planting on Lake Washington, and returned there but a few weeks since from spending the summer in Kentucky.

GROCERY STORE,
Pike Street, Cynthiana, Ky. (At Judd's old stand.)

ARE now receiving and opening their new stock of groceries consisting of every article kept in a well arranged family Grocery and Provision Store. They will continue to receive as fast as the necessity demands all the new and fresh groceries, and at as cheap rates as they can be had at the city for.

By attention to business, we expect to merit the favor of the public, and especially from our numerous friends. Goods given in exchange for country produce.

PORTY THOUSAND CASES OF GOODS were shipped from our house in One Year, to family groceries, and merchants, every part of the country, from Maine to California, amounting in value to over

One Million Dollars.
Our facilities for transacting this immense business are better than ever before. We have agents in all the principal cities to purchase goods from the Manufacturers, Importers, and others, for CASH, and often at an immense sacrifice from the original cost of production.

Our stock consists, in part, of the following goods:

Shawls, Blankets, Quilts, Cottons, Ginghams, Dress Goods, Table Linens, Towels, Hosiery, Gloves, Skirts, Corsets, &c. &c. Silver-Plated Ware, Spoons, plated on Nickel-Silver, Dessert Forks, five-bottle oil Castors, Britannia Ware Glass Ware, Table and Pocket Cutlery, in great variety.

Elegant French and German Fancy Goods, Beautiful Photograph Albums, the newest and choicest styles in Morocco and Velvet Bindings.

We have also made arrangements with some of the leading Publishing Houses that will enable us to sell the standard, and latest works of popular authors at the one-half the regular price—such as HAZARD, MOORE, BURNS, MILTON, and TAYLOR'S WORKS, in full gilt and cloth Bindings, and hundreds of others.

These and everything else for One Dollar for Each Article. We do not offer a single article of merchandise that can be sold by regular dealers at our price. We do not ask you to buy goods from us unless we can sell them cheaper than you can obtain them in any other way—while a greater part of our goods are sold at about

ONE-HALF THE REGULAR RATES.
We want good reliable agents in every part of the Country. By employing your spare time to forward our orders, you can obtain the most liberal commissions, either in CASH or MERCHANDISE, and all goods sent by us will be as represented, and we guarantee satisfaction to every one dealing with our house.

Agents should collect ten cents from each customer and forward to us in advance, for Descriptive Checks of the goods we sell. The holders of the Checks, can have the privilege of either purchasing the article described or of exchanging for any article mentioned on our Catalogue, numbering over 350 different articles—not one of which we can name.

The advantages of first sending for Checks are these: We are constantly buying small lots of very valuable goods, which are not on our catalogue, and for which we issue checks (all all sold); besides in every large club we will put checks for Watches, Quilts, Blankets, Dress Patterns, or some other article, as a reward, giving some members of the club an opportunity of purchasing an article for about one quarter of its value.

In every order amounting to over $50, accompanied by the cash, the Agent may retain $2.00, and in every order over $100, $3.00 may be retained to pay the Express Charges. This offer is more especially to assist Agents in the Western and Southern States, but is open to all customers.

COMMISSIONS: Agents will be paid ten per cent, in cash or merchandise, when they fill up their entire club, for which we give a partial list of commissions. For an order of $30 from a club of thirty, we will pay the agent, as commission, 25 cts. Brown or Bleached Sheetting, good dress pattern, wool square shawl, French cassimere pants and vest pattern, fine large white counterpane, etc., etc., or $3.00 in cash. For an order of $50, from a club of fifty, we will pay the agent, as commission, 45 cts. sheeting, one pair heavy wool blankets, 45 cts. in dress pattern, handsome wool square shawl, silver-cased watch, etc., etc., or $5.00 in cash. For an order of $100 from a club of one hundred, we will pay the agent, as commission, 100 yds. good yard-wide sheeting, coin-silver hunting case watch, rich long wool shawl, suit of all wool French cassimere, etc., etc., or $10 in cash.

THE PARIS AND LONDON Paper-Clothing Company.
Outfits for Ladies and Gentlemen.

THE undersigned would most respectfully inform the public that the agency for the above, under letters patent celebrated manufactured Paper Goods, is established, and for the first time introduced in the United States.

Among the various accomplishments of science and art, this may be considered one of the greatest, and most useful of the age. The reason why these goods have obtained in Europe for their exquisite elegance, flexibility, great durability and cheapness will at once recommend them to the American public.

Notice, Ladies!—No More Washing No More Ironing, No More vexation!

The great invention of PAPER CLOTHING which cannot be detected from linen fabrics, and at one-half the price formerly paid for washing.

It would be impossible to give here all the advantages which these goods possess in an eminent degree. They must be seen to be appreciated.

The great demand for them, upon the manufacturers in Europe, prevented them thus far from sending a large supply. Thus the first invoice I will dispose of in small quantities only, merely to introduce and show their merit.

Wholesale dealers will not be dealt with for the present. No order will be filled for more than one dozen of any one article at one time to the same address.

Price list.

Collars, pliable as linen, per dozen 30 cts. Handkerchiefs, per quarter dozen 60 cts. Shirt Fronts, elegant designs, per dozen 75 cts. White Vests, four in package 1.00 Handkerchiefs, per dozen 1.00

Money must accompany each order to insure attention. Letters calling for information must contain stamp. In sending money, procure money orders if possible, and add ten percent for postage.

JACOBUS VAN.
The Paris and London Paper Clothing Company's Agent, 35 Circle Street, corner of Market, Indianapolis, Indiana. sep2-3m.

To My Friends And The Public Generally.
Notice is hereby given that on and after the 23d day of this month I will sell goods for Cash exclusively. As I am unable to make collections I am compelled to adopt this method of business. You will find goods at prices you can buy them at.

I hope this will be a sufficient hint to those owing me to come up and settle at once.

I wish also to say to the public, I have seen for several years their need of a convenience for drawing water from wells and cisterns, and the impositions practiced upon them with patent humping water Drawers.

To supply this want I keep for sale a Suck Pump, which I know, for more than twenty years, to be used with satisfaction, and it has driven all other kinds most entirely out of use where it is known.

FOUTZ'S HORSE AND CATTLE POWDERS.

This preparation, long and favorably known, will thoroughly re-invigorate broken down and low-spirited horses, by strengthening and cleansing the stomach and intestines.
It is a sure preventive of all diseases incident to this animal, such as LUNG FEVER, Glanders, Yellow Water, Hay Fever, Colic, Distemper, Fevers, Croup, LOSS OF APPETITE, AND VITAL ENERGY, &c. It improves the blood, increases the appetite, gives a smooth and glossy skin, and transforms the miserable skeleton into a fine looking and spirited horse.
To keepers of Cows this preparation is invaluable. It is a sure preventive against Rinderpest, Bellow Horn, &c. It has been proven by actual experiment to increase the quantity of milk, and cross twenty percent and make the butter firm and sweet.
It cures the milk, and gives them an appetite, improves their hide, and makes them thrive much faster.

In all diseases of Swine, such as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs, Liver &c., this article acts as a specific. By putting from one-half a paper to a paper in a barrel of swill the above disease will be eradicated or entirely prevented. If given in time, a certain preventive and cure for the Hog Cholera.
